One day, a friend of mine who was a docker fell under suspicion. After work, he used to leave the docks pushing a wheelbarrow usually draped with a large mat. People often suspected him of stealing some tools. Every time this happened, the dock police stopped him to check under the mat and were disappointed to always find the wheelbarrow empty.

One night, another PC followed him and watched him wheeling the barrow into his garden. That enterprising bobby scrambled over the wall and to his surprise there were 30 wheelbarrows stacked inside.
